Artistic Fabrics Woven In Kingston

There is a work, really a form of art, being carried on in Kingston, which although it is little known locally, has attracted wide attention in New York among interior decorators and stylists.

In their studio at Richmond Park the Misses Miriam and Mabel Lane weave fabric for home decoration and wearing apparel. They have five hand-loom almost constantly in use, on which they execute their own designs in materials of their own coloring. Both the Misses Lane are graduates of Pratt Institute, where they studied normal art, design and interior decoration. Miss Miriam Lane, who was a colorist at the Cheney Brothers' Silk House for a number of years, left New York in order to go to Woodstock, where she worked for ten years developing her ideas in fabric and color. The patterns are authentic early American, and also modern adaptations for present day use. The materials used are silk, wool, linen and cotton.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt has expressed a great interest in the work of these two young women.

Through the "Lane Looms" the attention of many important stylists and decorating houses has been directed to Kingston.

TWO WIN, ONE HOPES, AND THREE LOSE

These race fans were too engrossed with the feature race at Aqueduct track to notice a candid camera levelled at them—and by their expressions it's not hard to see who was in the money and who wasn't. The fan next to them seems to hope her horse will stage a rally, while the three watchers on the right apparently have given up all hope. (Associated Press Photo)

OUT FOR A DAY OF FUN AND REST

The folks shown here at famous Coney Island, New York, maybe had in mind "a day of rest and fun," but whether they actually got it or not is another question. Less "Mid-Summer Doldrums"

Washington, July 6 (AP)—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States says there is less "mid-summer doldrums" this year than last and that evidence of general improvement by early fall may be expected within a few weeks. The publication stated in its fortnightly review that "analyses of detailed evidence for the first five months of 1935 show that general business activities in those months remained remarkably steady, and at a level noticeably higher than in the corresponding part of 1934. It is said that many can plant a tree but cannot make it grow. The same thing seems to be true of the NRA.

HOLLYWOOD
SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Although Michael
Barlett, a young American opera singer, appears only briefly with Grace Moore in "Love Me Forever," he already has become a Hollywood figure. He is the leading man in her new picture—and that is Hollywood's practical way of saying "Bravo!"

"Love Me Forever" has not yet been seen by the mass, but Barlett's studio (Columbia) already is sure he will be a hit.
Four years ago this same Barlett
was in Hollywood with a Fox contract to appear opposite Janet Gaynor in a musical fantasy. After eight years of musical study and operatic training at home and abroad, Barlett thought this was his big chance to make a name for himself.

But they never made the picture.
The studio suggested that he stay around and play regular second leads and other acting roles, and forget his singing, because musical pictures had "gone out." And he might have done it, too, if it had not been for Elsie Janis's advice.

Elsie Says: "Go East"
"Look here, Mike," said Elsie,
"you've spent a great many years developing that voice of yours. Go back to Broadway where you can use it."

Mike went back—and didn't get a job for six months. But in musical comedy and opera he clicked soon after that, and eventually sang in opera and on a weekly broadcast—
he says few people heard the latter because Lawrence Tibbett and Bing Crosby were on the air at the same hour—and then he came back to Hollywood for the Grace Moore picture.

A Bow To Miss Moore
Barlett, a sun-tanned, good-looking, athletic specimen, thinks all opera singers owe Grace Moore a great debt because her success is giving many of them, including himself,
something to do in the summer time.

For Barlett, the third time has proved a charm. Twice before he had a chance to sing with Grace Moore. The first was when she made "Jenny Lind" at Metro—he could have had the role that Reginald Denny played. But he had that Fox contract. The second opportunity was when Miss Moore sang in "Du Barry" on Broadway, but that time he was engaged to sing in "The Cat and the Fiddle."

He is not sorry he waited. "Jenny Lind" was one of the pictures that made Miss Moore's "poor bet" when she returned to make "One Night of Love."

HIS NIGHTS BRIGHTENED
AS CITY AND UTILITY CLASH

Milford, Ia. (P)—Art Clark of Milford wanted a street light near his home. So he asked Mayor Frank Merritt if the light would be installed
if the election for the city light plant carried.

According to Clark, the mayor answered in the affirmative.

Came the successful election and no street light. Clark asked again and said that as before nothing happened.

Then it became known to a public utility company which installed a light at once. So did the city. For a few days Clark's corner was the brightest spot in town.

Mayor Merritt then ordered the utility to remove its light, which gave Clark exactly what he had petitioned for—one street light.

tober 11, 12 and 13. Convention

day, October 12, and the convention

SOME JOB!

When a job comes along, make sure it is for you. The show on the Saturday afternoon when when the show is on the stage. The show is on the stage.
The show is on the stage. The show is on the stage. The show is on the stage.

At The Theatres
Today

Broadway. "No More Ladies." Gay
and completely sophisticated drama characterizes this latest Joan Crawford starring vehicle. A show that dazzles with elaborate settings and ultra-smart dialogue. All the display and general air of expensive living sort of hides a rather mediocre and ordinary story that tells of a girl who marries a play boy to reform
him. The understanding between them states that both must be honest with the other. When playboy husband Robert Montgomery starts
chasing the ladies all over the place, reformer wife Joan Crawford gives him a dose of his own medicine and starts going places with Franchot Tone. It isn't so much the plot as the acting and the dialogue that make this show a winner. It is swiftly paced, filled with well comed lines, and both Miss Crawford and Mr. Montgomery seem well cast.
Laughs are supplied by Edna May Oliver and Charles Ruggles. Glittering entertainment of the comedy variety.

Orpheum. "George White's Scandals." James Dunn, Alice Faye, Leda Roberts, Ned Sparks, Arline
Judge and George White give standout performances in this romance of a boy and girl who rise to success on Broadway only to fall through concent and misunderstanding. A musical talkie, the show offers several well sung songs, some capable dancing
and the usual amount of comedy.
Kingston. "Princess O'Hara" and
"Black Sheep." Petite Jean Parker
scores another triumph in the opening feature, a Damon Runyon story that bristles with sentiment and laughter. It tells of a girl who becomes a cab driver following the death of her father and of the boy
she loves, who is a petty racketeer.
With this as a plot structure, the show moves through many exciting incidents until love conquers all in the final stanza. "Black Sheep" is clever stuff, with Edmund Lowe well cast as a slick card shark. While pivoting his trade aboard boat, Mr.
Lowe discovers that his son is being caught in the net of a lady thief.
Through careful work he gets his son out of difficulty. Tom Brown, Clare Trevor and Arlene Ames
are featured. Good entertainment.

Tomorrow

Broadway. "Symphony of Living."
This marvellous production tells the story of a frustrated genius who never reaches the heights in music
but who is compensated later in life when his prodigy achieves glory and success. Some excellent music and action can be found in this picture.
The cast offers Al Egan, Charles Judele, Evelyn Brent and John Darrow. "Three Musketeers," the serial offering at the Orpheum continues with John Wayne in another exciting chapter.

Kingston. "Charlie Chan in Egypt." That home loving Oriental detective Charlie Chan gets into the most trying experiences of his career in the show at the Kingston theatre.
At times the talkie is "spooky", as it delves into the sacred precincts of the Pharaohs and the mystery of the play is cleverly worked out. The ever popular Charlie Chan solves the mystery after all his clues seemed to have failed and he tones off subtle epigrams of wisdom and the show dashes along from one event to another. Warner Oland, Pat Patterson, Stephen Fretont, Rina Cassino and Tommy Beck are featured.

England Seeks Veteran Pilot London (P)—England's decision to expand its military air force is expected to bring several hundred former fliers back into the service. Previously military pilots once they had returned, were not permitted to enlist in peace-time but the increased requirements caused repeal of this rule.

Hondas Guard Indian's Civic Art
Caucuttia (P)—A school of Indian architecture is to be started here "to save future civic edifices from the anomaly of foreign motifs and to revive Indian architecture."

Max Baer says now he doesn't like to fight. "We may see" near Lindbergh saying he doesn't like to fly.

MAY RETURN TO MOVIES

Douglas Fairbanks Jr. is shown landing at San Francisco after a lengthy world tour with Lady Sylvia Ashley. It was his first appearance on the west coast since Mary Pickford divorced him, and the return, he said, may mean that he will go back into the movies. (Associated

Cutwork
Done
Without Bars

PATTERN 5525

To be effective, cutwork must be rich in design. These roses will most decidedly fill that requirement. Not only are they handsome in design, but they also offer a chance to introduce color in this work. Do the roses in one color with the leaves in green, or use two shades of one color using the darker one for the roses. There are no bars in the design and you know that eliminates much work. You'll find motifs for a variety of linens in the pattern, so get busy and prepare a stock of choice pieces for your home in fall.

In pattern 5525 you will find a transfer pattern of two motifs 5 x 4 1/2 inches, two motifs 3 1/2 x 6 inches, four 5 inch corners and four small corners; illustration of all stitches needed; material requirements, color suggestions.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Kingston Daily Freeman Household Arts Dept., 259 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y.

DELICIOUS QUICK CAKE

MIXED IN JIFFY—BAKED IN HALF AN HOUR

Come out of the kitchen! Who wants to potter about a hot stove these summer days? "But the family wants some cake with their tall, cool beverages," you answer. Well, make them a delicious summer quick cake, whisked together in a jiffy—with very little beating and no troublesome egg separating.

The sour milk and generous proportion of egg and shortening give this airy-light, moist cake a soft, silky crumb—even if the texture is a shade less fine than longer creaming and beating would make it.

Do try the recipe! And bake your cake in a square pan. That's easier than baking and icing layers—and more convenient for carrying, in case the cake should go to a picnic.

Chocolate Quick Cake

6 tablespoons softened butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 1/2 squares (ounces) unsweetened chocolate
2-3 cup sour milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sifted cake flour
3/4 teaspoon baking soda
3/4 teaspoon salt
Into a good-sized bowl put softened (not melted) butter and sugar. Work together just enough to blend thoroughly. Break in whole eggs. Stir in chocolate, first melted over hot water, then milk and vanilla.

Lounge Suit's Chic Enhanced By Gay Knit Bag And Sandals

This comfortable lounge suit is excellent for wear during quiet mornings in the garden. The trousers are an odd and delightful shade of brown linen, imported from Ireland—a brown with a pinkish tinge to it. The shirt is cool and porous, with short sleeves and a slide-fastener opening at the neck. The gay knitting bag and beach sandals add a colorful touch to the apparel. They may be made at home of knitting and crochet cotton.

Pick Right Vacation Clothes And Have A Successful Holiday

By Barbara Bell.

July Fourth safely over, the serious business of vacation planning begins. Where shall we go? What shall we do? Thousands of us are wrestling with road maps and poring over steamer circulars, torn between the glamorous prospects of cool northern hills and tropical isles. Once these momentous decisions are made, we're ready to tackle another big problem—what shall we wear?

One thing is certain, wherever we go, it behooves us to travel light—that's why picking the right clothes and none of the wrong ones means such a lot in assuring the success of our holiday. Luggage en route is always a bother, whether we confide it to the tender mercies of porters, or stow it away in the rumble seat. The seasoned tourist tries to make a little go a long way and back without too much wear on either the wardrobe or the nervous system.

First requirements narrow themselves down to four important items: The travel costume, sports clothes, evening things, and accessories. Few opportunities arise for fussy afternoon frocks—we are too busy going places, playing hard, dancing hard, or relaxing in the simplest of spectator outfits to think about elaborate dressing. Anything that wrinkles easily, and does not wash or clean perfectly has no place in our itinerary. The best hats are the kind that can be rolled up and tucked into a corner of our suit case, so cartwheels are out, unless you carry a separate hat box. Shoes should be reduced to a minimum—but see that that minimum is comfortable. This is one time when you'll be glad that flat heels are so chic.

Manufacturers have gone out of their way to make fabrics into good travelers, this summer. There's a lightweight fine washable flannel that is perfect in gray with a carabao red or Normandie blue blouse and accessories. Mohair and alpaca are chic newcomers with resilience that makes wrinkles smooth out before they are scarcely in. These are also in navy. The silk comes in brand new small sporting and conservative patterns, and we can't think of anything cooler, except possibly silk linen or shantung, and these are smart in both prints and solid colors. Dark printed silks that are easily washed or dry cleaned are another good investment, and the blouse may be of the same material. In the cotton and linens, you have equally excellent choices. Travel in calandine, in brown or a new putty shade that seems to absorb dirt and dust. Porous cotton twined is something to wear and forget about. You can stuff the jacket into a corner of the suit, put it on again and find it none the worse for the experience. Rustic linens, the uncrushable kind, make grand two-piece suits. Flared for the jacket, and plain for the suit, or the other way round. Blue and white or brown and white checked sweaters can go into the tub at the end of the day and be ready to travel next morning without even a heart pressing, if you are careful to hang the jacket over a coat hanger and smooth out the skirt while damp.

On your head, tilt a classic felt of the Breton style that turns up all round, or that snaps down over your eyes. Bright ones are the smartest with your darker things. If you are driving a car, you may prefer a snug little knitted beret or a turban. Of course you'll want sun glasses—of the newest have white rims. As for gloves, leather ones are apt to slip on the wheel after hours of driving, but cotton string gloves will never fail you. Three pairs of dark colored ones will see you through a long trip. Flat heeled oxfords are most comfortable, and many women prefer rubber soles. Don't forget rubbers and raincoat—it's no fun to change a tire in a cloudburst, but the coat that wraps up in a package so small it can be tucked in a handbag does help matters considerably.

Evening Ideas

The most exciting evening frocks often occupy the least space in your luggage. That's because of the vogue for simple things in fabrics amenable to packing.

You'll want at least one cotton gown. Let it be one with a jacket for double duty wear. Fine white or waffle pique, rustic linens in splashy prints and plaids, red and white crossbar gingham, vivid striped seersuckers, cool printed dimity all have charm and personality in crisp little shirtwaist frocks with demure high collars in front and waist-deep décolletages in back. Perhaps best of all is cotton lace—shake it out after packing and it's ready to wear. It comes in luscious colors, too. Yellow, baby blue, bon bon pink, eggshell, lilac, flesh and white.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

Crisp bows—huge revers—keep style
interest high.
Liana Merwin

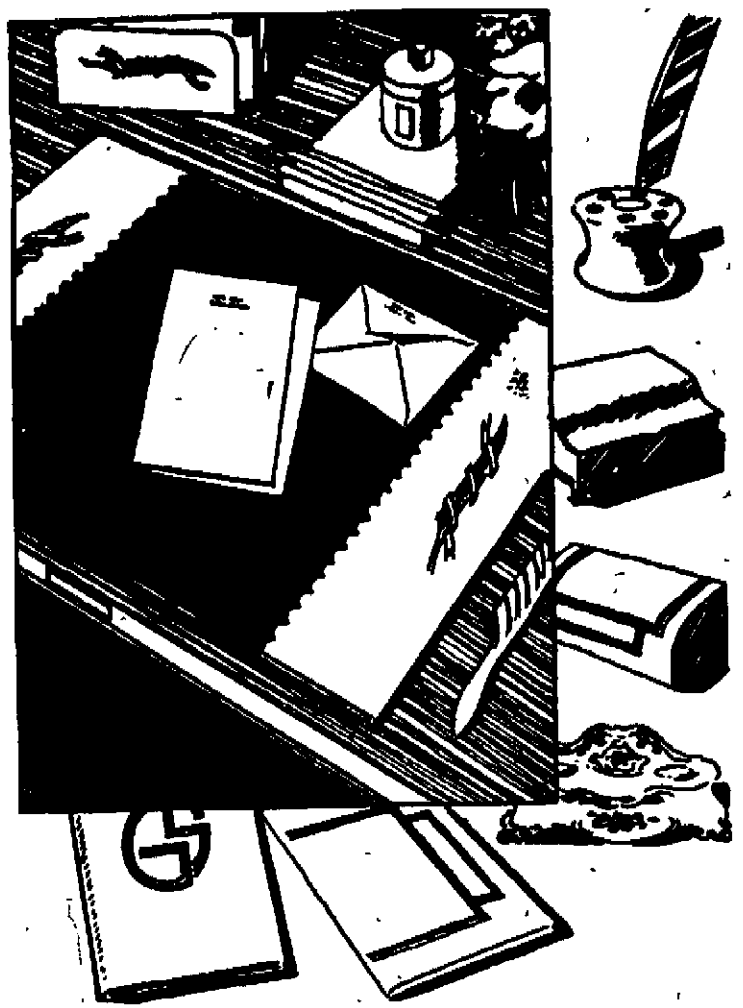

These crisp bows tucked under the chin, and wide, pointed revers add a "youthfulizing" touch to the smart summer tops for "dog days." When these warm, sultry days are here—a cool, jacket frock is the answer, especially so, when the bodice is fashioned of a sheer fabric.

The attractive model above does the unusual, by combining crepe with dotted swiss. The removable hip-length jacket of white crepe has wide, three-quarter sleeves, a stitched, self belt and huge revers of imported dotted swiss in navy with fine, white dots.

The one-piece dress below uses dotted swiss for the shirtmaker type bodice with crisp bow closing, the high neckline, a row of self-covered buttons and very brief sleeves. The skirt is of white crepe as is the wide, stitched belt. There are inverted pleats front and back for fullness.

Jacket frocks of late have been so fashioned to look as attractive as the jacket as they are when the jacket is worn—making them serve their real purpose for cool or very warm weather wear.

Well-Dressed Desk Needs Fittings In Glass, Metal Or Tinted Leather

A quill motif decorates a brushed silvery metal set.

By MARGERY TAYLOR
Copyright, 1935. By McCall's Magazine For Kingston Daily Freeman.

Whether or not we do our best letter-writing with the telephone, there is no denying that the modern desk accessories are not only inspiring, but decorative enough for any living room or bedroom.

The well-dressed desk may be outfitted in many styles with many combinations of "useful" appurtenances. The modern young room with a mirror glass screen may have clear crystal desk fittings—flat glass rods for the pad ends, combined ink-well and pen-tray, blotter, paper holder, etc., all square-cut crystal.

For that needed gleam of metal, a set for a living room desk comes in brushed silvery metal, non-tarnishing and non-scratching, with an applied quill in brass on the blotter holder, correspondence rack, pen and ink holder; and the letter opener is shaped like a quill.

The charm of an open Winthrop desk or secretary is enhanced by handsome fittings—especially in leather. And what looks richer and in more serene taste than the exquisitely tooled Morocco of past generations?

Leather is new, too—in the simple but clever line designs on gorgeously colored leathers: white, lemon yellow, turquoise blue, coral, rose or beige. With whole desk sets obtainable in these colors, the desk can match any modern color scheme—and so can book ends, lamps and wastebaskets. Even the desk Bible and dictionary can be found to match.

The most decorative, and useful, single piece is the large portfolio for paper, envelopes, stamps and pens—and you can take it on your travels.

For the man's desk, tan leather accessories seem irreplaceable. One set has a modernistic horsehead on the portfolio and box covers; another has brass sailboats on book ends and cigarette boxes.

Columbine Is Graceful Flower For Late Planting

Columbines Make Handsome Arrangements Indoors.

It has often been suggested that the columbine might well be selected as the American flower because it grows in every state as a native. Whether this is strictly true or not, some species or variety of this handsome hardy perennial is found in all the Northern and Western states and even extends into Mexico.

However, it is also a native of Europe and Asia, which makes it inappropriate as a strictly national flower.

Because of its grace and beauty both of flower and foliage it deserves a place in every garden. It is an obliging plant, and while many species are naturally shade loving they grow equally well in full sun. Its one dislike is too dry quarters although it manages to survive much drouth. It is one of the few plants that show red, blue and yellow coloring with scores of tints and shades.

The long-spurred hybrids, of which there are numerous strains, are the favorites, having displaced the old-fashioned short-spurred type. These long-spurred varieties with their great range of coloring are derived from the blue and white Rocky Mountain columbine, the golden columbine of California and a long-spurred red and yellow type from Mexico to a great extent.

They are very easily raised from seed and are much used in color schemes, particularly with irises when the color of the iris is either matched with columbines or used in a harmony or pleasing contrast. The seed is slow to germinate but certain. It requires from three weeks to a month to come up. It should be sown about a quarter of an inch deep and the soil should be firmly packed over the seed. This hastens germination and is a precaution that should not be omitted in sowing columbine seed.

There are handsome dwarf species from Europe for the rock garden such as the alpine columbine, Aquilegia glandulosa, a difficult sort to grow, but it has a counterpart in Aquilegia Helemae that is easy to grow and gives the same coloring. The dwarf Japanese, Aquilegia fabellatana, is a handsome dwarf white for the rockery. Sow columbine seed now for a supply for next year.

A Few July Gardening Suggestions.

By the Master Gardener.

While growth is retarded generally during the hot weather, gardeners will not want for something to do. There are the tall perennials to be staked before they bend and break. The old wood must be thinned out of shrubs which have finished blooming and much time must be spent watering the lawn and garden.

I thought a list of some of the important things to be done in the garden during July would be appreciated by many persons who have a garden for the first time this year, as well as by some more experienced gardeners. Here are some of the things that ought to be done within the next few weeks:

1. Cut back the old, hard canes of Raspberry Rose when their blossoming period is over; prune hybrid perpetuals; feed and mulch the trees for autumn bloom.

2. Pluck off the lateral stems on Dahlias to throw the growth into those that will bear flowers at the tops of the plants. Don't forget to feed with a complete plant food every four to six weeks.

3. If you are interested in pre-longing the blooming period of your Sweet Peas, see that they are well watered and heavily mulched to keep the ground cool. No blossoms must be allowed to go to seed.

4. Some time between July 15 and the end of August, lift and divide Bearded Irises.

5. Make final sowings of annual Lupines, Shirley Poppies and Nicotianette about the middle of the month.

6. Start slips or cuttings of Geraniums in early summer for blooming plants in the winter. Start in small pots and shift to larger pots as plants develop.

BARBARA BELL FASHION PATTERNS

Pattern No. 1593-B

Two-Piece Dress, Nicely Tailored, for Every Hour of the Day

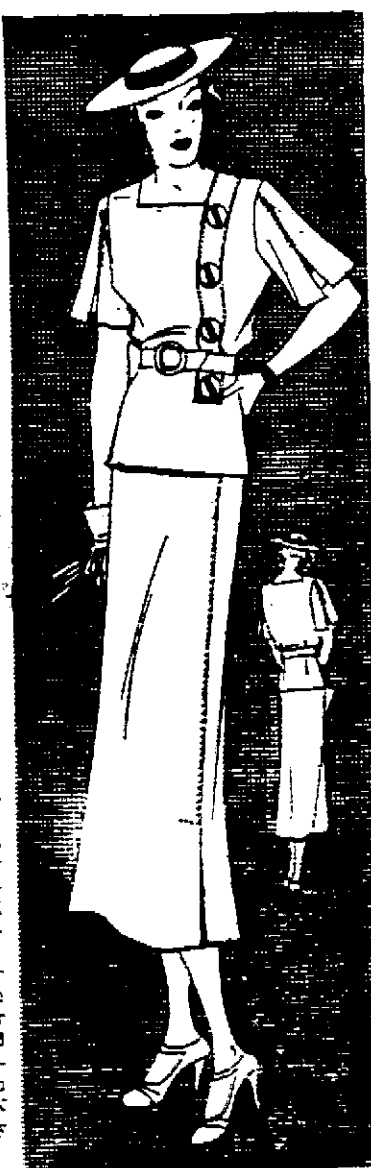

For the woman whose day is full of a number of things this nonchalant two-piece frock is, perhaps, more satisfactory than any other. In the first place, this sort of thing fits well, and that is important in Summer frocks, and it is so easy to get into, with no pulling and hauling to adjust it to the figure.

We like the smart peplum blouse, with its square neckline, and trimly tailored side closing. Sleeves are slit for comfort and coolness, and the slim, short skirt has a seam at the side front, to match the blouse. Big buttons, and a rather wide tailored belt slash a very useful, and smart, frock.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1593-B is designed in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 40 and 42. Corresponding bust measurements 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 (24) requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch material.

SEND FOR THE BARBARA BELL PATTERN BOOK. Make yourself attractive, practical and becoming clothes selecting designs from the one hundred and four Barbara Bell well-planned and exclusive fashions for little children and the difficult pattern for the mature figure: afternoon dresses for the most particular young women and matrons and other patterns for special occasions are all to be found in the BARBARA BELL PATTERN BOOK. Federation Women Plan Flower Show

The Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Fred P. Luther, president, is announcing its 1935 Flower, Fruit and Food Show this early in the season in order that growers of flowers may know the requirements for entering exhibits.

The Flower Show which promises to eclipse entirely that of last year, will be held at the Municipal Auditorium on the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, September 11. During the afternoon, from 3 to 5 o'clock bridge and other card games will be played.

Already some 45 different clubs from surrounding towns and cities are expected to take part in the exhibitions.

It is also expected that out of town people will lay an entire day of homes, with landscaping, in miniature, as one of the very interesting features of the show will be "Better Homes and Landscaping."

Growers from far and wide to the distance of a hundred miles, will exhibit flowers.

Special attention will be given to the children's departments, and the children are requested to get their exhibits ready during the summer vacation months.

One very distinguished feature of this year's Flower Show of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs will be the opening of the exhibits by Mrs. Almeron Smith of Plandome, L. I., who will be present and cut the ribbons that will open the show.

Donkey Baseball at Fair Grounds On Monday and Tuesday Evenings

Large Crowd Expected To Watch Mighty Steeds From Texas
Strut Their Stuff—Gas and Electric vs. Triangles on Monday—Kiwanians and Rotary Tuesday.

The "Diamond D" of Texas has reported to the committee of the Kiwanis Club having in charge the Donkey baseball games to be held in this city next week that the boys will arrive in Kingston, accompanied by the donkeys and by the sound wagon, on the morning of Monday, July 8, from Troy, New York, where they have been giving a series of games. Reports from Troy indicate that the events have proven very popular in that city and have provided a vast amount of entertainment and comedy.

At the joint luncheon of the Kiwanis and the Rotary Clubs held at the Governor Clinton Hotel this week, a large sale of tickets was reported and posters printed to advertise the games were distributed among the members of the Kiwanis and the Rotary Clubs to be exposed in Kingston and in the surrounding territory.

A parade will be held starting at 3 o'clock on Monday and Tuesday afternoons and opportunity will be given for the public to view the steeds which will take part in the games and some of the contestants are expected to also be on view. The sound wagon will be employed, and by its means announcement will be made of the events which will start promptly at 7 o'clock on each day so that the contests may be viewed by daylight.

On Monday evening a team composed of employees of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. will play the Triangle Club and on Tuesday evening the Kiwanis Club will play the Rotary Club. The events are being sponsored by the Kiwanis Club for the benefit of their charity fund.

The following is taken as an extract from a newspaper account from one of the cities where the donkey baseball games have been played:

Kiwanians Friday night defeated the Ada Rotarians 1-0 in the first game of donkey ball ever played here, and this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock will meet the winner of last night's game between the Lions and the Junior Chamber of Commerce for the tournament championship.

Played before a crowd that was nearly hysterical with laughter the game produced some of the weirdest horseplay ever seen here. It's called donkey ball but it's played on old fashioned burros who know their own mind if nobody else does.

From the time the first Rotarian, Earl Norman, slapped a fly ball to Talley Bolles, astride a mount near third base for the first out, until five innings had been completed, the crowd was in a delighted uproar.

Bolles was the only man to ride across home plate. This was in the second inning. He herded an obstreperous donk to first base, went to third while Doc Miller was vainly urging his mount forward while he was on and off the animals back, and scored while Roy Rummage's mount was careering about the infield, anywhere but to first base.

The best chance the Rotarians had to tie the score was when Jim Keltner made a fine ride to first, Biles advanced him to second, Dode Evans sending him to third. Then while the Kiwanians threw the ball here and there after Norman swatted it, Jim's long eared canon ambled about the infield ending at second base instead of home and the side was retired.

The prowess of Harwell and Alderson, the lack of respect the donkeys showed for the medical profession, and the scant regard they had for the persuasion of the lawyers were only part of the fun. Vester Willoughby claims the best "one point landing" of the game. Dan Proctor leaped aboard the big grey burro's differential region four times and as many times came off. That big grey burro, sleepy eyed when not in action, was a whirlwind when mounted.

The off-again-on-again-gone-again phrase made famous by Strickland Gilliland seems to be the slogan of the burros and well they made it stick Friday night.

Something entirely new and different, this donkey ball, something entirely fun and plenty of it. The Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring it here.

Hank Greenberg, who was left out of the reckoning when the squad was picked for the All-Star ball game at Cleveland Monday, apparently is out to prove that the selectors made a big mistake. Incidentally he is proving a big help to the Tigers in their drive to take the American League lead away from the Yankees.

Already far ahead in the home run race, Hanky approached Babe Ruth's record pace when he belted out his 24th and 25th circuit swats of the year yesterday in the course of Detroit's 16 to 1 triumph over St. Louis. That not only gave him a lead of eight over his nearest rivals but put him right in line for a shot at the Ruthian crown.

At this stage in the 1935 season, when he set the record of 60 homers, Babe Ruth had only 26 circuit drives to his credit and he didn't hit a particularly fast clip until September.

In addition to his two boundary belts, each with a man on base, Greenberg smacked a pair of singles and converted them into runs, and drew an intentional pass in the fourth inning when the Tigers scored five runs to make their eighth straight victory a virtual certainty.

The Tiger triumph reduced the Yankees' lead to 1½ games as the New Yorkers' game at Washington was rained out. The Cleveland-Chicago struggle for third place also was washed out, leaving two National League contests to complete the day's program. The Philadelphia-Boston games in both circuits and the Red-Cardinals clash previously had been put over to make later doubleheaders.

Pittsburgh's third-place Pirates, home from a long road trip, enjoyed a profitable day in the senior circuit when they whitewashed the Cubs 4 to 0. The league leading Giants took a 14 to 4 drubbing from Brooklyn. That put the Bucs only a half game behind the Cardinals and nine behind the Giants.

The Dodgers, who had been taking it on the chin at home, got even at the expense of the league leaders by pounding out 21 assorted blows in the New York park while Johnny Babeich went the route for the first time since late April.

Baer Family Is for Max's New Bride

Buffalo, N. Y., July 6 (AP)—The Baer family of Livermore, Calif., is 100 per cent for ex-Champion Max's bride.

"Speaking for the family," said younger brother Buddy as he worked out for his scrap next Wednesday with Delaney at Delaney, young Buffalo heavy, "I assure you we're all for her. I'm surprised and glad, too, that Max won such a fine girl. She'll be here to see me fight Delaney."

"I understand Delaney is like myself," continued Buddy, switching the subject reluctantly, "a youngster full of fight. I expect to meet Ford Smith in Chicago later this month."

"But if Delaney wins, you're going straight back to Los Angeles," suggested a listener.

"Well, there's no place like home," Buddy retorted, grinning. "The folks will be glad to see me—even if I go home kicked."

A two day program, replete with features depicting the various phases of conversation, will mark New York state's record his celebration this year commemorating 50 years of conversation. This is being arranged by the Central Adirondack Association, in cooperation with the state conversation department, and will be held on July 20 and 21 along the Fulton chain of lakes to the Adirondacks, with Old Forge as headquarters.

Hercules Defeat N.R.S.C., 6-3; Need 1 Game for First Half

Hercules' Powdermen continued their winning ways and advanced to within one game of clinching the first half of the City League by defeating the North Rondout Social Club, 6 to 3, at the Athletic Field, Friday evening. They still have two games to play, one with the Dairymen next Wednesday evening, and the other one with Forsts. The defeat put the Rondouters out of the race and leaves only the Crystal Beauty Shoppe to compete with the Powdermen.

As in the previous Hercules' game it was the same old story. Eddie Scherer, 48-year-old youngster, proved too much for the youthful players. He was touched for nine hits, but scattered them over the full seven innings, at least one coming in an inning. It was in the pinches he was at his best, nine of the Rondouters being stranded.

Two pitchers were used by the Powdermen in trying to silence the Rondouters' bats, but to no avail. J. Boots started and was scored on five times, the result of seven hits, while Phil Komosa, who relieved him, was found for two hits and one run.

The Rondouters got the jump and had a three-run lead before the second inning was completed. They sent their first run over in the opening stanza. Jimmy Turk singled to right field after Mitchell fled out and advanced to third on Dullin's error of Lewis' fly. Komosa singled to left field to chase Turk home.

In the second inning M. Berardi started with a single to left field and Williams was hit by a pitched ball. T. Berardi received a walk to fill the sacks with none out and Scherer was in a tight spot. After Mitchell fled out Turk singled and M. Berardi scored. Williams also registered when Quest threw wild to the plate.

The three-run advantage was short lived for the Powdermen in their half of the second went to the front by staging a four-run rally. All the runs came after two outs. Short singled to left field and Quest repeated with a single to center field, Short scoring on the play. Dullin was walked and Scherer lofted a double to right field, scoring Quest. Peterson also singled and Dullin and Scherer dented the rubber on T. Berardi's wide throw to the plate.

The four runs were enough to win, but in the fourth the Powdermen showed another run across the plate, the result of a single by Quest and Mitchell's second error. A double by Dullin and a single by Peterson gave them another run in the sixth.

SIDELINERS

With the exception of the last half of the first inning each team poled at least one hit.

Jimmy Turk made a beautiful catch of Scherer's line drive in the fourth inning.

"Bing" Van Etten's triple was a dandy. T. Berardi made a nice try to get it, but just missed.

It was one of the fastest games of the season. The player forgot to notice the hot sun and no time was lost.

Third Party Proposal Adopted by Conference At Chicago Today

Chicago, July 6 (AP)—Recommendations for the formation of a new political party were adopted by the organization committee of the third party "invitation" conference early today.

The committee, headed by Representative Thomas R. Amle (Prog.-Wis.), continued its work until an early hour and then recessed until 7:30 a. m. (central standard time).

A second recommendation adopted was that a permanent committee be named to select the date and site for the first national convention of the proposed third party.

Rep. Amle, one of the leaders who called the third party conference, said his committee hoped to submit to the main body before its closing session.

Members of the platform committee also recessed at an early morning hour but Chairman Vito Marcantonio (R.-N. Y.) said they would reconvene before the general session to complete their recommendations on a proposed third party platform.

Congressman Amle said it was impossible to predict how large a committee would be appointed to call the national convention, but that he thought it would include about 40 names of persons active in the third party movement. Their membership probably would represent all the 27 states taking part in the present conference.

Some of the committee members in discussing the report commented that their report would undoubtedly be accepted. "It is significant," one stated, "that the conference as a whole is more radical than the committee members. If they make any changes in our recommendations, it will be to make the language even stronger."

Marcantonio, although head of the platform committee which is to state the need for a third party, was not in favor personally of launching it in 1936. He said, "I believe a third party is premature now. I do believe, though, that Liberal groups should form a political federation which can become a party if Liberals find that they can't turn to either of the old parties."

Virtually all the speakers were strongly anti-Communist, and warned the conference that a third party, if launched, should guard against admitting Communists.

Alfred Bingham, of New York, named permanent secretary, described the group, meeting here as "Radicals—not the traditional type, but a typically American strain of radicalism."

John D. Will Be 96 on Monday

Lakewood, N. J., July 6 (AP)—Monday is John D. Rockefeller's 96th birthday anniversary.

Letters and telegrams will pour into Lakewood for delivery at "Golf House," the Rockefeller estate, and his eldest son, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., may drop in to see him, but there will be no formal celebration.

Greetings from his household servants, the gardeners, the guards and forester, and a few hours in the warm sunshine will make the day a little different from the usual run of his latter year days.

But the old spirit of the elder Rockefeller's birthday—the spirit which moved him to issue an annual statement on public affairs—will be missing. The custom came to an end last year.

Rockefeller came here June 14 after spending eight months in his Ormond Beach, Fla., home. Until last year he used to go to Pocantico Hills, Tarrytown, N. Y., for part of the summer. That custom, too, was discontinued last year, at least temporarily, because of the state of his health.
